MVLS, A BRIEF HISTORY¹

The Mountain-Valley Library System (MVLS) was established in March 1969 when the Mother Lode Library System² and the Sacramento City-County Library Systems merged and included the Sutter County Library and Marysville City Library. Mountain-Valley was created and funded under the guidelines of the Public Library Services Act.

As a part of the prior Mother Lode System, Auburn was designated as an "area" library and funds from the Library Services and Construction Act were sought and secured to develop it as a referral center for El Dorado and Placer County Libraries. In March, 1968, an application was made for a greater information network which would keep Auburn-Placer as an "area" library, and include Sacramento as a "research" library. The grant was made and the Mountain-Valley Information Center began in 1968. The Mother Lode teletype network was expanded to include Sacramento, Sutter County and Marysville, offices were opened in the Central Library in Sacramento, vans and drivers were secured, and headquarters staff was hired. The area library concept ended in 1980. Sacramento Central Library remains the resource library for the System.

Other jurisdictions that joined Mountain Valley between 1969 and 1972 included Woodland Public and Alpine, Yolo, Nevada and Yuba Counties. (Mono too?) In 1973/74 MVLS received an LSCA grant enabling UCD, CSUS, CRC, Sierra, Sacramento City College and Yuba College to join in the reference network.

Roseville Hospital joined in 1974, Dixon Public in 1979, Folsom Prison in 1982 and Lake Tahoe Community College in 1985.

Between 1976 and 1979 reciprocal borrowing agreements were developed for Tahoe area libraries via the "Cross the Line" and "Sierra Libraries Information Consortium" (SLIC).

¹ Prepared by Mary L. Stephens with assistance from Judy Lane; a cursory overview, dates need to be double checked in MVLS Official Minutes; send me any corrections or omissions.

²Members included Auburn-Placer and El Dorado Counties and the Nevada County Demonstration Project plus the cities of Roseville and Lincoln.

Also, in 1976, a Tri-System agreement was signed whereby MVLS, North Bay and North State Cooperative Library Systems agreed to coordinate their services and to share materials with users throughout the Tri-System area. In January 1977 a Tri-System delivery service began with daily inter-ties among the three Systems. In 1980 that delivery service was expanded to include the 49-99 Library System and the Bay Area Library and Information System (BALIS). In 1982 Peninsula Library System was added. The name of the expanded delivery service was the Library Connection for Northern California and it ceased operation in late 1980.

Use of the teletype ceased around 1982 and was superseded by Forum and in 1988 by OPUS. The film circuit was in operation from 1970 to 1979.

The California Library Services Act (CLSA) was enacted in 1977, superseding the Public Library Services Act. The key features were ILL reimbursement for all libraries except for profit libraries and the establishment of System Advisory Boards.

In 1979 Joe Matthews completed a feasibility study for MVLS for a systemwide, automated circulation system. As a result Liz Gibson was hired to advise us regarding retrospective conversion options, and the MVLS Data Base Conversion Project began in 1982 using AGILE. Mark Parker developed a report on MVLS Data Base Options and the decision to use AGILE CD-ROM catalogs was made in 1984. The change to IMPACTS occurred in 1988 or 1989.

In addition to the Coordinator and Information Center Librarians, staff has included Children Consultants, a Media Librarian, a Resource Development Librarian and a Systems Level Systems Analyst. A list of Coordinators follows.

HISTORY

The Mountain-Valley Library System (MVLS) grew out of two previous library systems. The Mother Lode Library System, comprising El Dorado and Placer Counties and the Roseville Public Library, had been in operation since 1965. As a major resource library in the Mother Lode System, Auburn had been designated as an "area" library and funds from the Library Services and Construction Act were sought and secured to develop it as a referral center for El Dorado and Placer County Libraries. In March, 1968, another application was made for a larger information network which would keep Auburn-Placer as an "area" library, and include Sacramento, a single library system, as a "research" library. The grant was approved and implementation began in July, 1968. These two systems, plus the Sutter County Library and the Marysville City Library, applied to create the larger library system with funding from the Public Library Services Act, in a proposal to the California State Library in September, 1968. The application was approved and the Mountain-Valley Library System was formed in March, 1969.

Initially, The Mother Lode teletype network was expanded to include Sacramento, Sutter County and Marysville. This network ultimately was extended to nine libraries, until it was replaced by electronic mail to twenty libraries, in 1983. Offices were opened in the Central Library in Sacramento, where they remain today, vans and drivers were secured, and a headquarters staff was hired. The area library concept lasted until 1980, when System activities and staff were merged at the Sacramento Central Library, as the principal resource institution for the System.

The Mountain-Valley Library System, as it now exists, is a group of 13 city and county public libraries. Some are small independent communities, such as Lincoln, and some are larger units, such as Sacramento Public or Yolo County libraries. As affiliate members, there are also seven community college and two state university libraries. Lastly, there is one special library (Roseville Community Hospital) and one prison library (Folsom). In spite of their differences, they find that certain needs can be met by working together and sharing resources.

Over 1,400,000 people in an area of 11,145 square miles now have access via interlibrary loan or direct borrowing to more than five million volumes, from which they may obtain information or pleasure. There is a reciprocal borrowing agreement among all public library members, whereby a valid library card from one member library enables its patrons to borrow directly from any other library. The academic affiliate libraries may have more limitations on direct-loan policy, but they do lend virtually all circulating materials to whichever System library requests them, through interlibrary loan. Materials that can be checked out can be returned to any library outlet in the System, with the exception of films and recordings, which should be returned to the lending library.

One of the main functions of the System is to provide a framework so that any member library may effectively use the materials of the other System libraries. This concept was extended outside the system in 1976, when an agreement was signed to provide resource sharing between MVLS, North-Bay and North State Cooperative Systems. This intertie network has been developed into a parcel delivery network among seven northern California Systems, ranging from Kern County in the South to the Oregon border.

MVLS is funded out of three sources: State funds (California Library Services Act). Federal funds (Library Services and Construction Act) and some local funds from member libraries.

System policy and budget matters are determined by its Administrative Council which consists of the head librarians of each member library. The System Advisory Board, a citizen's advisory group, assists the Council by helping to plan and evaluate System services and by advising the Council on service developments based on community library needs. The Council meets on the second Thursday of every other month, beginning with July of each fiscal year. The City of Sacramento acts as fiscal agent for the System.

At the present time, Mountain-Valley provides its members with the following services:

1. Information network, which includes the following:
 - Electronic mail and telephone
 - An information and research center for reference requests
 - A center for processing out-of-System interlibrary loans
 - Regular deliveries by van or United Parcel Service
 - Links between member library book circulation systems
2. Workshops and in-service training programs and library tours
3. Management of a database containing computerized records of most books held by System public and community college libraries
4. Management of voluntary 16mm film and video circuits
5. Consultant services for reference, automation and general library services.
6. Administration and coordination of System activities and services
7. Development of new programs and studies
8. Development of cooperation among all types of libraries

The various services provided through the Mountain-Valley Library System have the goal of helping the member libraries improve their services to every person in the area, through resource sharing. In some cases, this means services and/or materials which the library could not perform or obtain alone. In other cases, such as interlibrary loan and subject reference, it means speeding the flow of requests and answers to make fulfillment a reality.

Tom Andersen, State Library, informs us that if the Colusa County Library wants to join MVLS, a resolution is needed from MVLS Council accepting it as a member. Since the State Board deadline for action may be soon and since MVLS Council will not meet again until March, the following motion was passed at the MVLS Administrative Council meeting on January 11, 2001:

"Pending approval of the State Board, MVLS hereby accepts Colusa County Library as a full member as long as

- 1) such membership has no negative impacts on the services currently provided to MVLS members, and*
- 2) Colusa County Library agrees to abide by the MVLS bylaws, annual plan of service, and budget."*

Dear Diane:

I am acknowledging receipt of your cover letter and acting City Manager Udell's letter to you giving notice of intent regarding the proposed affiliation of the Folsom Public Library as a member of the Mountain-Valley Library System. The notice was received prior to the September 1, 1993 deadline which would allow affiliation to be effective for the 1994/95 fiscal year.

I understand that this is contingent upon the official establishment of the Folsom Public Library as a jurisdiction that has full authorization to affiliate with MVLS.

CLSA Program staff are also available to answer questions, and I understand that they are currently undertaking to estimate the system allocation under CLSA that would result if the affiliation is completed. They will make sure that the matter comes before the California Library Services Board in the appropriate manner.

Please feel free to write to me again.

Sincerely,

I. INTRODUCTION

It is the goal of librarians, and others concerned with the dissemination of information through libraries, that all types of libraries should cooperate to serve their patrons better.

The Master Plan for Total Library Service, adopted by the California Library Association in 1969, called for networks of libraries of all kinds.

It states this need in this manner

"The librarians of the State of California recognize that the information needs of the citizens of the state often exceed the resources of any one type of library. Meanwhile, there exists within the state a reservoir of materials consisting of the holdings of public, school, academic, and institutional libraries. While each of these types of libraries is obligated to give priority to its own clientele, there is a further opportunity and responsibility for sharing resources to provide total service to the entire public.

It is further recognized that the cooperation of all types of libraries will create certain imbalances of service which may require correction through formalized exchanges of service or some other form of equalization.

It is the aim of total library service to make available any service or resource necessary to meet the demonstrated need of individuals who have exhausted their normal local resources. Therefore, the basic concept in this Master Plan for Total Library Services is the provision of a structure through which the individual may be provided unimpaired access to the entire library resources and services in the state. The Master Plan provides a rationale for cooperation and joint effort in all types of libraries in a program designed to guarantee such access."

The Mountain Valley Library system recognized the need of interlibrary cooperation by establishing this goal:

" To Plan and cooperate with other types of libraries within the System's geographical area in furthering the Master Plan for Total Library Services and to cooperate with other systems where mutually beneficial."

The System provides that, upon approval of the Executive Council, consisting of the head librarians of each member library or their authorized representatives, any public jurisdiction may join the System. The Council, in approving an affiliate membership, recognizes that it benefits the public library members of the System and the public-at-large. Therefore, the Council will provide certain services, as funded under the California Library Services Act, to its affiliate members.

II. PLAN OF SERVICE

A. The Mountain-Valley Library System will extend membership to Sacramento County Law Library.

1. Delivery, as arranged in the most cost-effective and efficient manner.
2. System handling of inter-library loan and reference request as done for other members, including referral to the State Library, or other appropriate agency.
3. Access to the System Database as done for other members.
4. Telecommunications as provided to other members.
5. Consultant services of the System staff.

B. Sacramento County Law Library will accept membership in the Mountain-Valley Library System and extend its members the following services:

1. Will open its resources to the other members of the Mountain-Valley Library System for interlibrary-loan and by direct borrowing of individuals subject to the policies of the Sacramento County Law Library.
2. Will conform to interlibrary-loan and reference policy of the Mountain-Valley Library System, as outlined in the MVLS policy manuals.
3. Will give consultive help to the Mountain-Valley Library System in those special skills provided by the library staff.
4. Will assist the MVLS Reference Center in answering law-related questions for other system members.

C. Legal Relationships

1. The librarian of Sacramento County Law Library will be an associate member of the System Executive Council with all rights and privileges, except (CLSA). This act provides state funding for the System's Administration, Reference, Communications and Delivery and System Advisory Board programs and it specifies that only public libraries may vote on issues concerning CLSA. It is customary for the public library members to consult with non-public members when voting on MVLS CLSA programs.

The librarian of Sacramento County Law Library entitled to vote on issues that do not concern CLSA, including the System Database program, interlibrary-loan, and other portions of services funded by member libraries monies.

2. The Sacramento County Law Library will adopt the system Plan of Service as an integral part of its membership in the System.
3. The System will accept Sacramento County Law Library as a member of the Mountain-Valley Library System.

D. Procedures for Joining

1. The President of the Board of Trustees will sign this agreement 1) Approving membership in the Mountain-Valley Library System, 2) Approving the Plan of Service of the Mountain-Valley Library System, and 3) Agreeing that the Sacramento County Law Library will assume its share of costs, as approved by the Mountain-Valley Library System Executive Council.
2. Sacramento County Law Library acknowledges that the Mountain-Valley Library System Executive Council approves a member-share fee for each member library on an annual basis. The fee, and the formula by which it is derived, are subject to change, at the discretion of the Executive Council, on an annual basis. The Council has adopted a policy that the fee will be set at its regularly scheduled meeting in January, and will be invoiced by the System in September.
3. Sacramento County Law Library may withdraw its membership from the Mountain-Valley Library System, upon written notice from the Board of Trustees, or equivalent, to the System Executive Council Chair.

III. PROPOSED SUPPORT BY SACRAMENTO COUNTY LAW LIBRARY

The Mountain-Valley Library System has established the membership fee for Sacramento County Law Library at $250.00 for the period starting July 1, 1991, through June 30, 1992.

Mountain Valley Library System

Agreement between MOUNTAIN VALLEY LIBRARY SYSTEM and the California State University, Sacramento Library.

The Mountain Valley Library System was established in 1969 to create a framework for rendering improved information service to its members. The Mountain Valley Information Network provides accelerated reference retrieval and referral service. Members of the System are the County Libraries of Alpine, Auburn-Placer, El Dorado, Nevada, Sacramento City-County, Sutter, Yolo, and Yuba and the City Libraries of Lincoln, Marysville, Roseville, and Woodland. In addition, for the year 1973-74, the Mountain Valley Library System has received an LSCA Title III Inter Library Cooperation grant for FY 1973-74 in order that the System and the Libraries of the University of California at Davis, the California State University, Consumnes River College, Sacramento City College, Sierra College and Yuba College can join in a Reference Network to improve interavailability of library materials to all library users of the region.

The Executive Committee of the Mountain Valley Library System now extends System membership to the Library of California State University, Sacramento. Membership will facilitate the sharing of resources among the Libraries of the System and the University.

In order for all MVLS institutions and their respective clientele to receive maximum benefit from the association and to avoid placing an unfair burden on any institution, it will be necessary to adhere to the following conditions for the exchange of services:

1. MVLS members will have access to the University Library, and the University Library will have access to MVLS member libraries through the Information Network at Sacramento. The MVLS Reference Coordinator will screen all requests and will determine which ones will be referred to CSUS.
2. The Network System concept requires that the clientele of each library seek his information at his own library first. The academic libraries will follow the ALA interlibrary loan code as it pertains to undergraduates. If the local library (public, college, or university) cannot fill the request within its usual routine, it will be forwarded to the Reference Center in Sacramento. The disposition of requests to the holding library will be the responsibility of the Reference Coordinator.

3. This Agreement does not entitle a library borrower to bypass his local library for materials or information. Direct borrowing or the seeking of research assistance is a matter between the individual and the University. It is not the intent of the agreement to have the resources of the University Library (materials or professional expertise) become a substitute for the resources of the individual System member libraries.
4. The University Librarian will designate some one on the University Library staff to serve as liaison between the System Information Network and the University Library.
5. The University Library will extend library privileges (borrower card and stack privileges) to MVLS staff members. Certain designated System staff members will be permitted to use the University Library facilities. Material will be checked out to the System and will be handled by MVLS in the same manner as all other inter library loans.
6. The MVLS will pay for the installation and the monthly charges for a TWX at CSUS. Operators will be trained by Western Union and there will be a meeting for all operators at System headquarters.
7. The System delivery van will make a daily stop at the University.

8. The University Librarian or an alternate designated by him may attend the regular meetings of the Executive Committee. He will be an observer and may not vote on System matters until such time that the Public Library Service Act provides for full membership of non-public library members.
9. This Agreement complies with the California Library Network Master Plan which states "the total library collections of California must in the future be regarded as a general public resource."

Agreement between MOUNTAIN VALLEY LIBRARY SYSTEM and the University of California at Davis Library

The Mountain Valley Library System was established in 1969 to create a framework for rendering improved information service to its members.

The Mountain Valley Information Network provides accelerated reference retrieval and referral service. There are twelve public library members.

They are the County Libraries of Alpine, Auburn-Placer, El Dorado, Nevada, Sacramento City-County, Sutter, Yolo, and Yuba and the City Libraries of Lincoln, Marysville, Roseville and Woodland.

The Library of the University of California at Davis comprises the largest single book collection in the area. It would be of inestimable value to the public library members of the Mountain Valley Library System to have access to this research collection through the Information Network at Sacramento.

In the past the resources of the University Library have been available to the public libraries in the area by an informal arrangement. The staff of the University Library has been generous in providing specialized information and material to the Information Network.

The Executive Committee of the Mountain Valley Library System proposes to extend System membership to the Library of the University of California at Davis. Membership will facilitate the association between the System and the University and would impose certain conditions for the exchange of services.

The Executive Committee of the Mountain Valley Library System proposes the following conditions for UCD membership in the System:

- 1. MVLS members will have access to the University Library through the Information Network at Sacramento. The Reference Coordinator will* screen all requests and will determine which ones will be referred to UCD.

2. The University Librarian will designate some one on the University Library staff to serve as liaison between the System Information Network and the University Library.
3. The University Library will extend library privileges (borrower card and stack privileges) to MVLS staff members. Certain designated System staff members will be permitted to use the University Library facilities. Material will be checked out to the System and will be handled by MVLS in the same manner as all other inter library loans.
4. This Agreement does not entitle a library borrower to bypass his local public library for materials or information. Direct borrowing or the seeking of research assistance is a matter between the individual and the University. It is not the intent of the agreement to have the resources of the University Library (materials or professional expertise) become a substitute for the resources of the individual System member libraries.
5. The System delivery van will make regular stops at the University Library. Regular stops may be made at the UCD medical facility in Sacramento whenever the University Library has materials to send between these two locations.
6. The University Library may install a TWX to communicate with the System headquarters if it is deemed necessary.
7. The University Librarian or an alternate designated by him may attend the regular meetings of the Executive Committee. He will be an observer and may not vote on System matters until such time that the Public Library Services Act provides for full membership of non-public library members.
8. This Agreement may be terminated by either party 30 days after notification of desire to terminate is given in writing.

9. This Agreement complies with the California Library Network Master Plan which states "the total library collections of California must in the future be regarded as a general public resource."

The Members of the Executive Committee of the Mountain Valley Library System concur with the provisions of the Agreement.
